FOOTNOTES

/a/ Eastern States administers BLM public lands in the 31 States east of and bordering on the Mississippi River; Wyoming administers BLM public lands in Nebraska; Montana administers BLM public lands in North and South Dakota; New Mexico administers BLM public lands in Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas; and Oregon administers BLM public lands in Washington.

/b/ Special recreation permits authorizes the recreational use of an area and are issued pursuant to the regulations contained in 43 Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) Subpart 8372, and 36 CFR Part 71. Under the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act, implemented by these regulations, Special Recreation Permits are required for all commercial use, for most competitive events, and for the individual, noncommercial use of special areas where permits are required. For more information, refer to the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act, the regulations noted above, the BLM Special Recreation Permit Policy, and the Commercial Special Recreation Permit handbook.

/c/ Recreation concession leases are long-term authorizations for private parties to possess and use public land to provide recreation facilities and services for a fixed period; these leases are authorized under 43 CFR 2920 and the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act. Recreation concession leases establish the obligations that the BLM and the concessionaire agree to in providing visitor services necessary for full enjoyment of the public lands and/or related waters.

/d/ Golden Age Passports are issued to U.S. citizens 62 years of age and older and entitle such persons to half-price admission where entry fees are charged. Permit holders are also entitled to a 50 percent discount on recreation fees; e.g., campground fees.

/e/ Golden Eagle Passports entitle the bearer to free entrance to National Parks, National Recreation Areas, and BLM National Conservation Areas for one year from the date of purchase.
